INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

This year we celebrated IWD with the screening of Call Jane at Regent Theatre. Thanks to everyone who came out to support AFW, IWD and the many amazing women in our community!

Stay tuned for details on our next IWD event March 8, 2024!

No More Nice Girls

We were thrilled to host an In Conversation With Lauren McKeon, author and feminist. We discussed her book "No More Nice Girls", gender power dynamics, the cost of gender-based violence and why people are afraid of the word "feminist"!

TAKE BACK THE NIGHT

Thanks to everyone who came out to Take Back the Night with us on October 25th. This is an annual event where we march to take back the streets for the safety of women.

Pictured are the posters and participants of the march.

TRAINING PROGRAM FOR LOCAL BUSINESSES

About the training:

- Delivered by the Training and Public Engagement Coordinator of Alternatives for Women.
- Our 1.5 hour introductory training focuses on educating staff and management regarding Gender-Based Violence.
- Training can be offered at your offices or a third party location organized by AFW.
- Training is available during regular work hours or on the evenings and weekends, where necessary.
- Follow-up trainings can be designed to meet your business's specific needs.
- Don't hesitate to reach out with questions.

Training and Public Engagement

AFW's Training and Public Engagement Program aims to address systemic barriers experienced by survivors, combat harmful gender norms, and advance gender equality. We offer free training and presentations to businesses and service providers.

- Please contact us at hollyb@alternativesforwomen.ca or (613)476-4435 for more information!

Volunteers

A HUGE thank you to our wonderful volunteers who because of their hard work, make it possible for childcare to be offered to our clients, removing a barrier to seeking help and participating in programs!
